

Hi, I'm Adele I'm the chief executive of North Northamptonshire council.

Thank you for your interest in this role at are brilliant council.

I've been in the role for just a few weeks and therefore this role is so important to me personally as I build upon creating a high performing corporate leadership team.

It is also incredibly important for our organisation and the children, young people and families within our area.

We're a large complex and energetic organisation. We have to be as we have huge ambitions to be an exemplary council as we aren't prepared to stand still.

We have around 2,000 employees delivering over 800 services and supporting 360,000 residents.

We are just coming up to our third anniversary since we were created and since then we've concentrated on a culture where our colleagues live and breathe our values but we still have so much to do.

This is the opportunity to build something really special and lead a council that we can be proud that we created.

We welcome change, innovation and thinking about doing things in a really different way that will eventually become the NNC way.

So what are we looking for?

We're looking for someone who's courageous, who will lean into working with our partners and significantly improve our services.

We're also looking for somebody who has the ambition of doing things really differently, and someone who is forensic in their approach to children's services.

So who we're looking for?

We're looking for someone courageous who will lean into working with our partners to significantly improve services for our children and young people.

Someone who has the energy and ambition to lead new ways of doing things.

Somebody who will be forensic in their approach to children's services.

Someone who fits with our ethos of being honest about the challenges we face but wants to find solutions and won't be satisfied with average.

And finally, someone who wants to make their mark and show what talent and a supportive environment can really achieve.

In return, you will work in a council this is ready for change in fact we're really excited by it; and a council that is committed to delivering excellent services and wants to actively work with our partners to support a whole system approach which will benefit our residents.

You will also be an integral part of our supportive and talented corporate leadership team.

So, if this sounds like an opportunity you would like to hear more about then please do get in touch.
